

GLOBAL X FUNDS DECLARES JANUARY DISTRIBUTIONS FOR COVERED CALL ETFs

NEW YORK – January 22, 2019 – Global X Funds, the New York based provider of exchange traded funds, today announced the January distributions for the Global X Nasdaq 100 Covered Call ETF (QYLD) and the S&P 500 Covered Call ETF (HSPX). The Global X Funds suite of Covered Call ETFs may be suitable for investors seeking income.

- QYLD utilizes a covered call strategy that invests in the Nasdaq 100, and writes at-the-money call options on the Nasdaq 100 Index, saving investors the time and potential expense of doing so individually.
- HSPX utilizes a covered call strategy that invest in the S&P 500, and writes 2% out-of-the money call options, which allows the Fund to potentially participate in some of the upside growth when the S&P 500 Index rises.

Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. Concentration in a particular industry or sector will subject QYLD & HSPX to loss due to adverse occurrences that may affect that industry or sector. Investors in QYLD & HSPX should be willing to accept a high degree of volatility in the price of the fund's shares and the possibility of significant losses.

By selling covered call options, the fund limits its opportunity to profit from an increase in the price of the underlying index above the exercise price, but continues to bear the risk of a decline in the index. A liquid market may not exist for options held by the fund. While the fund receives premiums for writing the call options, the price it realizes from the exercise of an option could be substantially below the indices current market price. QYLD is non-diversified.
